Mehrdad Azmin (1986) was born in Tehran. He moved to London in 2002 where he currently lives and studies. Mehrdad has taken part in several group exhibitions in London over 2009-10.

“People watching was always interesting to me and I started to write down my daily observations a few years ago. Photography was another way of recording what I had experienced. I wouldn’t call it documentary photography, it’s just pictures of the things I have seen.”
